PURPOSE
The purpose of the Volunteer Workers P&P is to provide overall guidance and direction to managers, staff, and volunteers. It is also to remind departments of their legal responsibilities when hiring volunteers to assist within the unit. This P&P will assist departments to comply with Federal and State regulations and UW policies while protecting the interest of volunteers, the Unit and the UW.

DEFINITION OF VOLUNTEER
A volunteer is someone who:
• Is unpaid;
• Offers services freely without coercion or pressure to serve;
• Has no expectation of receiving pay or other benefits including future positions at the University;
• Does not currently and/or did not previously hold a position performing the same tasks;
• Does not displace a current or past paid position and whose volunteer services are not substantially the same as a paid position

Please see the Washington Department of Labor and Industries Employment Standards Administrative Policy ES.A.1 which further defines volunteer service:

GUIDELINES
Volunteer service should not displace work performed by University employees. Volunteer service should not be used to circumvent the established processes that govern the University’s hiring processes.

Volunteers should not normally have an employment relationship with the University and volunteer service is not covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) or Washington wage and hour laws. However, employees outside of the unit may volunteer for events and programs in other units as long as the volunteer activity is not a general duty or responsibility of their current paid position.

Supervisors should track the dates and hours of volunteers, this is to ensure that if a volunteer is injured, he or she is covered by the University’s workers’ compensation and insurance policy.

Volunteers receiving academic credit for work they perform are classified as “interns” and are not covered by UW workers’ compensation. Interns must provide their own coverage for accidents or injuries that occur while performing intern work.
Volunteers who are not covered by UW workers’ compensation:
  • Unpaid student interns who are enrolled at the UW or another institution of higher education and participating in an approved/authorized work-training program for a defined period of time.

Volunteers who are covered by UW workers’ compensation:
  • Unpaid student volunteers not enrolled at an institution of higher education and/or not in an approved/authorized work-training program for a designated period of time.
  • Unpaid high school students volunteering for credit.
  • Unpaid UW, other college, or high school student volunteers NOT receiving credit.

Volunteers under the age of 18 cannot:
  • Drive or operate machinery
  • Perform jobs requiring specialized personal protective equipment

Further Washington State rules on hiring minors can be found at:
http://www.lni.wa.gov/WorkplaceRights/TeenWorkers/HiringMinors/default.asp

Volunteer service should not be engaged if it is not permitted by visa status and immigration law rules. Please see Section III of the volunteer form.
  • J-2 visa holders who have obtained an I-766 Employment Authorization Document may volunteer. (A J-2 visa holder who volunteers without obtaining an Employment Authorized Document may jeopardize his/her visa status and subject the University to significant fines and/or loss of federal grant funding.)
  • Visa holders may not volunteer services while their work authorization is pending.
  • Please consult with the Office of International Student Services (ISS) about restrictions for individuals in other visa classifications at 206-221-7857.

  • The opportunity to attend orientation;

  • Information on how to report emergencies, injuries, and unsafe conditions;
  • Emergency evacuation procedures and routes;
  • Additional training may be required based on the volunteer’s activities
